5. BUSINESS ITEMS:
a. Legal Counsel Tiedemann outlined the role, responsibilities and timeline of actions for the Successor Agency and the Oversight Board. Board members discussed the provisions and reviewed the accompanying memorandum.
b. Projects Director Lieberman presented the history of the Albany Community Reinvestment Agency (ACRA) and reviewed the projects that had been accomplished to date, and those which were still in process. Board members reviewed the accompanying memorandum. The original 1998 Redevelopment Plan and the November 2011 Five Year Implementation Plan were provided to the Board members.

c. Finance Director Adams reviewed the ACRA ROPS, which had been submitted to the Auditor-Controller on March 31, 2012. He noted the five debt obligations that are listed and noted that due to the relatively small dollar amounts and the lack of revenue to support a bond obligation, the Agency had not issued bonds, but instead operated with operating cash advances and loans from the City.

Board members asked for information about the interest rates used, which were 3% for the largest loan of $850,000 and were pegged to current LAIF rates, which are currently under 1%. Adams reviewed a revised ROPS schedule that would enable the debt to be paid off in a more timely manner and also presented the monthly ROPS for January through June and July through December, 2012. Board members discussed.

Board member Peeples requested clarification regarding which obligations on the ROPS were enforceable obligation and for which obligations the successor agency was requesting that the Oversight Board approve the successor agency reentering into with the City. Legal Counsel for the Successor Agency stated that the first obligation listed on the ROPS was an enforceable obligation and that the remaining obligations are obligations that the Successor Agency was requesting that the Oversight Board approve reentering. Board member Peeples moved to approve the first and second ROPS covering the periods from January 1, 2012 to June 30, 2012 and July 1, 2012 through December 31, 2012 including approving the Successor Agency reentering into agreement regarding items 2,3,4, and 5 listed on each ROPS. Pollard seconds. Discussion. The vote is unanimous for approval. Board member Stephenson moved to adopt the revised version of the extended ROPS with the accelerated payment schedule of debt obligations. The motion was seconded by Board member Peeples, and the vote was unanimous for approval.
