7-2. Update on “Complete Streets” planning for Buchanan Street and San Pablo Avenue to improve safety for walking, biking, and other modes of travel.

Staff recommendation: Provide direction to staff and the Traffic and Safety Commission.

Community Development Director Jeff Bond delivered the staff report. In January 2012 the City obtained a grant to develop concept plans for complete street improvements to Buchanan Street and San Pablo Avenue. The complete streets planning process included retaining the services of Nelson Nygaard and WRT. The planning process also included a design charrette including Dan Burden as the keynote speaker. Three design alternatives were developed based on the results of the planning process. The Traffic & Safety Commission has discussed the design alternatives.

The proposed design for San Pablo includes: providing space for wide raised medians where possible; retaining on-street parking where demand is high such as in the core area of San Pablo Avenue between Clay and Buchanan; providing on-street bike lanes where most needed or where parking demand is low; using super-sharrow lane markings where bikes share the lane with vehicles. The Commission suggested an implementation strategy of incremental improvements starting with signage and painted lane markings, then monitoring the effectiveness before making any major capital investments in construction.

Improvements for selected intersections on San Pablo Avenue were identified including Dartmouth/Monroe, Washington, and Solano. Kains Avenue and Adams Street could potentially serve as an alternative bike route to San Pablo Avenue if a continuous bike route on San Pablo Avenue is not possible.

Improvements to Buchanan Street include adding a pedestrian crossing on the east leg of the Buchanan/Jackson intersection, implementation of a pedestrian “High-Intensity Activated Crosswalk” signal at the intersection of Buchanan and Taylor, and the realignment of the Buchanan/Marin merge.
The following people spoke: Harry Chomskey, Albany Strollers & Rollers; Clay Larson.
A summary of comments is as follows: expressed appreciation for the Complete Streets planning work, provided suggestions regarding bike lanes on Kains and Adams Streets and suggested the Traffic & Safety Commission research options; suggested conducting analysis of Kains and Adams Streets separately.
A summary of Council comments is as follows: suggested considering traffic impacts associated with the Farmers Market, asked for clarification regarding relocation of the bus line, suggested additional study regarding a two-way bike lane on Kains and Adams Streets which are both one-way streets; and expressed general support for the complete streets planning work.
