Community Media Access Committee Chair Jack Kenney presented the work plan. The seventh annual Albany FilmFest was successful with record attendance. The FilmFest moved to the Albany Twin Theatre in 2015 and added a new category, Albany Filmmakers Showcase. The Committee added more City meetings and library events to KALB. Initiatives for the next two years are keeping FilmFest sustainable; collaborating with other film festivals; contact with the Pacific Film Archive; generating more content related to Albany; continuing the pop-up studio; and updating the guidelines for submission of content.

New initiatives are to monitor the operation and outcome of Project HOPE; to review the progress of the Albany Housing Element; to review the draft rent review ordinance when available; to provide recommendations for health and wellness programs funded with soda tax revenues; to perform outreach to low-income residents and seniors regarding low-income tax exemptions; to recommend options for exemptions in future tax measures and franchise agreements; to investigate service gaps for seniors who wish to age in place; to implement and evaluate the resource center pilot program; and to identify strategies and programs to support inclusivity.

6-2. Proposed Albany Creeks and Albany Hill Open Space Maintenance and Capital Improvement Projects

Staff recommendation: that the Council provide direction regarding suggested projects for the City’s creeks and Albany Hill open space

City Manager Penelope Crumpley presented the staff report. The Albany Hill CIP projects and Restoration Design Group's (RDG) concept plan designs were taken from the Creekside Master Plan. The Creeks Maintenance Plan was drafted by RDG. Lower Codornices Creek refers to the area from San Pablo to the railroad tracks. The cost of maintenance for lower Codornices Creek is handled through the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with UC Berkeley and the City of Berkeley. All other sections of Codornices Creek within Albany are maintained from the Creek Fund, which is Measure R funds. The Albany Hill vegetation management plan was taken directly from the Creekside Master Plan. The lower Codornices Creek CIP project is included in the approved CIP book for 2016-2020. Staff is not requesting Council approval of the concept plans but an indication that the concept plans are the right approach. Plans and specifications will return to the Council for approval after review by the appropriate advisory bodies. The City needs to develop a plan for spending and to spend Measure R funds in the next few years. Projects could return to the Council as individual projects or all access and circulation projects could return as one project.

Bob Birkeland shared conceptual designs for the Taft steps, the Taft ADA route to the swing area, the Jackson/Taft trail, the Jackson/Madison trail, and signage. The Jackson/Taft trail would be a new, meandering trail, while the existing Jackson/Madison trail would be enhanced. Using the existing fire road for the ADA trail is not feasible. Along the Jackson/Madison trail, the BMX area and eroded trails would be restored. The Taft, Jackson, and Madison trails can be linked through the materials used. At Madison Street, the guardrail could be replaced with wooden bollards with Public Works approval. Birkeland suggested installing only regulatory signage at trailheads.

Construction costs for the Taft steps would be $96,000, the Taft ADA trail $235,000, the Jackson/Taft trail $75,000, the Jackson/Madison trail $111,000, and signage $72,000. Construction costs for all five projects would be $739,000. With general conditions of $170,000, the grand total would be $911,000. Design and engineering fees would be $155,000.

Conceptual plans for the Adams Street Bridge include a 40-foot span, 12-foot width, and concrete abutments and piers. Significant issues are utilities crossing the creek and no conveyance for a 100-year flow. The total cost would be $346,000, including $254,000 for construction. The Belmont Avenue Bridge would be a 60-foot span with 8-foot width. A significant issue is the elevation change. The total construction cost would be $275,000 or a total of $379,000 with design and engineering fees.

Drew Goetting reviewed natural stream function, storm water treatment, conventional management of streams, dynamic equilibrium, channel structure, riparian vegetation, and regulatory considerations. The University of California is responsible for managing Village Creek. The City's maintenance department is working primarily on lower Cerrito Creek and Middle Creek. Most stream areas are privately owned. The plan provides basic guidance for creek maintenance. Maintenance considerations include seasonal work, protecting habitat and water quality, the need for technical assistance, emergency work, when not to perform maintenance, tree removal and vegetation management, and stream bank erosion. An MOU for Cerrito/Middle Creek with the Center for the Blind, a Department of Fish and Wildlife maintenance permit, a maintenance activity reporting program, and homeowner outreach are future considerations.

City Manager Crumpley advised that Gale Rossi of Public Works calculated the $60,000 annual cost for creek maintenance based on the concepts presented and the number of labor hours necessary to complete some tasks. Staff does not have a presentation for Albany Hill vegetation management. Recreation and Community Services Director Chelle Putzer conducted outreach with the community and stakeholders, and RDG met with Friends of Five Creeks. The summary of maintenance costs in the first year for both Albany Hill and the creeks calls out specific areas and ongoing maintenance costs. The annual maintenance cost for creek plans as presented would be $60,000, and remaining creek funds would be expended in six years. The cost of large-scale projects would exceed available funds by $55,000. Actual costs had been $18,000 to $68,000 annually for maintenance of lower Codornices Creek.

A summary of comments is as follows: the Adams Street bridge would be an important regional bike connection; opposition to the use of concrete on trails and for steps; appreciation for most proposed trail improvements; support for the Adams Street bridge.

A summary of Council comments is as follows: measures to ameliorate lower Codornices Creek flooding at the Center for the Blind; concern about improving trails near the end of Madison Street where native American drilling holes are located; plans to remove trees from the top of Albany Hill to provide views to the east; measures to lessen flooding at Adams Street; existing lighting on the Taft trail; plans for lighting on Albany Hill; surfacing for the ADA trail other than decomposed granite and concrete; installation of interpretive signage, perhaps as kiosks; the potential for obtaining State funding; whether costs include possible damage and repair of gas lines; ongoing maintenance costs after depletion of Measure R funds; the need for maintenance costs for trails; the difference between vegetation management and maintenance; Albany’s contribution to the escrow account for maintenance of Codornices Creek; an evaluation of buffer zones in case of wildland fires; the ability to construct a bridge at Adams Street to meet Corps of Engineers standards; support for the proposed concept plans; access is important to residents.

The Council directed staff to continue with the approach as presented.

7. GOOD OF THE CITY/PUBLIC FORUM/ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mayor McQuaid opened the Good of the City.

The following persons spoke: Dave Estipinal, Francesco Papalia, and Amy Smolens.

A summary of comments is as follows: Council discussion of rent control or mediation should include the Costa-Hawkins Act; application of the smoking ordinance to smoking marijuana; Bike to Work Day volunteers needed and the Albany Strollers and Rollers energizer station.

9. UNFINISHED BUSINESS

10. NEW BUSINESS

10-1. Conceptual Design of the Proposed Park and Ride Lot on the South Side of Buchanan Street between the I-80/580 Freeway Ramps

Staff recommendation: that the Council provide City support for the project and review comments on the conceptual design Transportation Planner Aleida Andrino-Chavez presented the staff report. Through the Commuter Parking Initiative, the Metropolitan Transportation Commission (MTC) is allocating $3 million for implementation of three Park and Ride Lots under freeway interchanges in the East Bay. One location is in Albany at Buchanan Street. MTC wants to create a pilot program and monitor it to determine whether they should expand the program throughout the region. The design phase will be complete in 2017, and implementation is slated for summer/fall 2018. The daily parking fee will be used to defray costs of operations and maintenance. In January 2017, the projected was presented to the Traffic and Safety Commission for its input. Afterwards, staff met onsite with the project team to evaluate the Commission's comments. In April, staff received an updated conceptual plan and presented it to the Traffic and Safety Commission for additional comments. In response to the updated conceptual plan, staff requested a more direct connection between the alternate path and the proposed bus stop, a bulb-out to decrease the turning speed of vehicles, and an on-demand leading pedestrian interval. At its meeting on April 27, the Traffic and Safety Commission expressed concern about the limited amount of funds for the project; full capacity of the Transbay Route L bus when it reaches the proposed bus stop; the height of the fence surrounding the lot; monitoring of carpool behavior; and sufficiency of space for all users of the lot. As funding becomes available, MTC will add amenities such as charging stations. Both AC Transit and MTC agree to private shuttles using the lot. MTC will monitor carpool behavior. AC Transit suggested designing an easy on/easy off bus stop would allow other Transbay routes to use the Park and Ride Lot.

The following person spoke: Amy Smolens.
A summary of comments is as follows: opposition to locking the lot overnight.

A summary of Council comments is as follows: restrictions on users other than commuters utilizing the lot; ownership of the project, the land, and maintenance costs; staffing for the lot; designated handicapped parking spaces; a request to include 20 parking spaces for electric vehicle charging stations in the project; specifications for electric vehicle charging stations; whether bike lockers will be installed in the first phase; anticipated users of the lot; support for charging stations and bike parking as part of the project.
Community Development Director Bond advised that comments from the Council and the Traffic and Safety Commission will be submitted to MTC.
